Consumers Credit Union Breaks Ground For New Volo Office

Member-owned Credit Union to open seventh branch in rapidly-growing community

Volo IL, July 8, 2008: Consumers Credit Union ($510 M, Waukegan, IL) celebrated its ground breaking ceremony for its new branch on Saturday June 28, 2008. The Member-owned credit union's new office will be located at the intersection of North Ellis drive and Route 120 in the village of Volo.

"The village of Volo is one of the fastest growing areas in Lake County, noted Sean Rathjen, CCU President. "Residents in the area will benefit from the value of a full-service credit union. Additionally, CCU already has many Members who live and work in and around the area who will now be able to conduct their business more conveniently than ever. Consumers Credit Union looks forward to providing great products backed by fantastic service at our new location."

Village of Volo President Burnell Russell, CCU Chairman John Janezic, Con O'Mahoney of the Illinois Credit Union league and CCU President Sean Rathjen were joined by Chamber of Commerce leaders Lou Molitor, Debra Ogorzaly, Pat Weber and other local dignitaries for the ground breaking ceremony on June 28th. Also on hand were Dan Robison of Dan Robison Architects and Lyle Ehlers, President of Boller Construction. Work on the new location is already underway.

Volo is the newest village in Lake County, incorporated in 1993. Since incorporation, Volo's population has grown quickly – and that growth has attracted many businesses and organizations such as Consumers Credit Union. The Volo location will be a full service branch, including consumer loans, credit cards, mortgages, checking, savings and investment products.
